

COMPETING FOR THE FUTURE ENROLLMENT FORM

Competing for the Future is a rigorous developmental program that is designed to prepare you and your company to be competitive in the new world that is unfolding around us. Once we have your enrollment form we will be sending you additional details about what to bring, a medical form (required for insurance purposes), and a waiver that will enable you to participate in any experiential events.

For now what you need to know is that the hours are long, the pace is fast, and you will be more engaged in this process than perhaps anything you have ever done in your life! We will go from 7:00 AM until 9:30 p.m. during the first conference and then work in more traditional business hours for the rest of the conferences. Coaching will be live and in person and you will have a series of implementation assignments to do over the course of the process. When you complete the work you will find yourself standing in a new world, we will be there to welcome you!

Payment terms: The number of participants in this program is limited and thus payment is due in full upon enrollment.

Refund Policy: In the unlikely event that the program is for any reason cancelled (this has never happened in our history) all of your money will be refunded. Other than that you are committed to the process. If for any reason you cannot attend the program as scheduled your tuition will be transferred to the next program. If you go through the entire program and find that you received no value your money will be refunded with a $500.00 materials and handling fee. To receive this refund you must complete the entire program, not merely some portion of it. _____initial
